Judy Hunt

High adventure calls — and boys and girls answer. And wherever they go, their cars go also — to school, church, clubs, games, parties.

Here in the senior high parking lot, the "jalopies" sit patiently — the old and "junky" — the shiny and new — waiting to carry their young riders toward the fulfillment of dreams.

BELLEVUE SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
BELLEVUE, WASHINGTON

A bird's-eye view of Bellevue Senior High School reveals new angles and unfamiliar expanses. The view seems serene, but below its tranquillity is the bustle of student life—the busy, happy living of over nine hundred boys and girls.

SCHOOL LIFE MOVES FAST, WITH CONTROL

In the swift, vital movement of young people through school life, Drivers' Council is one of the essential parts of the braking mechanism. It helps to control the complex, powerful organization known as Bellevue Senior High School, the many fast-paced activities of which are pictured in the 1958 Beacon.

Mr. Ousley and his "first 100 per cent Beacon sales" debate class seem about to step into a car and "take off" for a tournament, just as we are about to step into the pages of the 1958 Beacon and "take off" on a tour of its CONTENTS.

DEDICATION

To: Dr. George B. Brain

BECAUSE —

*He is kind and just and wise,
Has led us by a sturdy hand
To where Bellevue High is today —
Well known throughout the land.*

And because —

*By aggressive leadership
And by the power of his mind
He has gone a long, long way,
Not leaving boys and girls behind.*

And especially because —

*He can smile and joke and laugh
About the things young people love
And keeps himself in spirit near,

SO, TO DR. GEORGE B. BRAIN,
OUR VALUED FRIEND,
WE DEDICATE THIS SYMBOL OF OUR DEEP ESTEEM —
THE 1958 BEACON.

LEADING US ON THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

One memorable day last fall, Dr. George B. Brain, Superintendent of Bellevue School District, came to spend an hour with Beacon class. If the boys and girls on the staff had not known before what a "human" person is chief administrator of Bellevue schools, they certainly found out then. His visit confirmed his reputation for a deep, broad comprehension of the problems of education, right down to the problems of putting out the 1958 Beacon. He even laughed at the promotion skits specially performed for his benefit, thus showing the ultimate of understanding!

Keeping a school system up-to-date in teaching techniques is one of the most vital functions of an administrator, and Dr. Brain devotes much thought to this matter. He says that his "pet peeve" as superintendent is lack of time to meet all boys and girls and teachers in the classroom where the actual teaching and learning take place.

In pursuit of further professional growth, Dr. Brain spent the year 1956-57 at Columbia University in New York where he earned the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. There he revealed such rare qualities of inspiration and leadership that other school districts and a number of colleges made strong bids for his services. Bellevue is indeed fortunate that Dr. Brain has chosen to stay here.

Even though they carry a heavy load, our administrators maintain the strength and wisdom to guide us along paths of knowledge.

HE FACES EACH NEW DAY WITH ZEST

To many people, nine years of driving up a hill and stepping out of a '48 Hudson might become an everyday, commonplace experience, but to Mr. Heidenreich it is always the beginning of a challenging new day.

Besides building up the teaching staff, helping to organize new courses, and keeping track of the million and one details which come up daily, Mr. Heidenreich has the responsibility of helping students develop integrity, high morale, and a desire to learn. His powers of inspiration and diplomacy daily encourage cooperation among the classes and friendly unity between faculty and student body.

At the end of each day Mr. Heidenreich heads the old Hudson down the hill, with confidence that something has been accomplished that day, for the betterment of Bellevue Senior High School.

EDUCATION VITAL FOR DEMOCRACY

The authors of the Constitution counted on education to make possible the operation of our democracy. At that time, both education and suffrage were limited. But there was an aspect of freedom that was instinctively held to be universal, and that was opportunity.

As it became increasingly clear that opportunity for all could not be had without education for all, universal education became a part of liberty, and not only rudimentary education but also high school and college education for those who desired and could use it.

Freedom, education and opportunity have now become inseparable. They have also become unconquerable. Freedom and education and the opportunity that comes with them have generated the moral skills that have given free men the strength and tools to defend their heritage. Liberty generates the strength to defend itself and spread its gospel.

It is the sincere hope of the Bellevue School Board and Administration that all graduating seniors will continue their pursuit of learning and knowledge, for their own welfare and for the betterment of mankind.

MEMORIES OF SCHOOL CHERISHED

One of the oldest and most cherished of high school traditions is that of the annual. Throughout the nation, students have been busily working on their yearbooks. Here at Bellevue, we are ready once again to turn the pages of our Beacon which brings us the reassurance that the good times and friendships of our high school years will not be forgotten, but will live on in this album of memories.

All of these memories are meaningless mementos of the past, unless with them you, the boys and girls, have acquired the logic, the vision, and the understanding that will enable each of you to make your life what you want it to be. Our faculty and this community have confidence in the ability of our graduating seniors to do just this. Our best wishes go with you.

OFFICE:

Top: Mr. Knoell

MRS. PHYLLIS ALLEN

"Excuses, excuses, excuses!" are the pet peeve of Mrs. Allen who speaks here for most other teachers too. With her many activities as a sophomore English teacher, she combines her work as a sophomore class adviser. When asked about her future plans she answered, "Someday, somehow, somewhere, I am going to become a nice, lazy beachcomber."

MR. ARNOLD BIERMANN

"The knee bone's connected to the thigh bone; the thigh bone's connected to the hip bone; and all bones are connected to Mr. Biermann's health classes. When not concentrating on bones, Mr. Biermann says he enjoys the peaceful atmosphere of a mountain stream. Perhaps he does not even mind the remoteness of tower II after all.

MISS XENA CARMAN

"My word!" is the favorite expression of junior English teacher, Miss Carman. She asserts that her first love, after her '51 Plymouth, is the 150 students she has each semester. She divides her free time among ceramics, reading, bowling, and the T.V. program "Our Miss Brooks."

MR. ROBERT CROWN

A sportsman whose favorite relaxation is hunting and fishing, which he plans to do some fine day along with extensive travelling is the distributive education teacher, Mr. Crown. He is keenly interested in his retail selling instruction and deplores the habits of the irresponsible pupil. Each year Mr. Crown strives to help students gain interest in distributive education as an occupation.

MR. JACK DALY

The slap of a basketball and the clatter of a punching bag tell the visitor to the gym that Mr. Daly's P.E. class is working out. A graduate of College of Puget Sound, Mr. Daly spends his spare time playing golf; that is, when he is not busy "minding" his seventeen-month-old son, Brian.

MRS. MARTHA DAVIDSON

Mrs. Davidson's persistence in snaring elusive overdue books is only one aspect of her many-faceted personality. Her broad traveling experience throughout Europe and America has given us a very well-versed librarian. Each day when her work here as walking encyclopedia is terminated till tomorrow, Mrs. Davidson hurries home to her pleasant duties of mothering two daughters.

MR. DONAL DISTAD

Golf, golfing, and "All-Star Golf" are Mr. Distad's favorite pastime, retirement plan, and T.V. program respectively. Golfing provides his only time of real relaxation. His world history and journalism classes keep him busy; as attendance supervisor he hears many a student's woes; and after school he goes home to two very lively youngsters. No wonder Mr. Distad sometimes dreams of finding a deserted golf course on a desert isle.

MR. MARVIN DURHAM

"Get the facts" is a familiar expression to all students of Mr. Durham. As a teacher of Washington state history and contemporary problems, his main interests cluster around international relations. However, during vacations, he may be found relaxing and camping in the Cascades or the San Juan Islands. He says he does not plan on retiring for about a century yet!

MR. EDWARD ECKSTADT

New to Bellevue this year, Mr. Eckstadt teaches biology, although he asserts his favorite subject is history. He can usually be found observing his salt water aquarium or watching his favorite animal, the planaria. Mr. Eckstadt has done a lot of traveling, for example in France, Austria, Scotland, and thirty-eight states, and hopes, when he retires to write about these traveling experiences and the friends he has met.

MR. DONALD HANSLER

Choosing between biology, zoology, and botany, Mr. Hansler says the last is his favorite subject. He claims that he definitely is not a superstitious man, but that his lucky number is 107. Mr. Hansler has done research work in western Alaska and has also traveled to Mexico. When asked where he enjoys spending vacations, he said, "The vacation is the essential part, the spot doesn't matter."

MISS MARTHA HARDY

Ten-sided polygons, lengthy equations, and "Please get rid of that gum!" are characteristic of room 206, the multi-purpose room presided over by Miss Hardy, and ornamented by the famous "iron curtain" behind which the "glorious" Bellevue Beacon is produced. Come summer, Miss Hardy flees from this mathematical-journalistic madhouse to her cherished tree ranch near Mount Rainier.

MR. WALTER HOECH

Shorthand in the morning, typing in the afternoon, and a pinch of dark room photography fourth period make up the usual day for Mr. Hoech. Snapping pictures at school dances is evidence of his strong interest and skill in photography. Mr. Hoech also enjoys basketball games where he can often be found with some of the older members of his growing five-man team.

MR. GLENN HOLDEN

A hearty chuckle and an ever present patience are two characteristics that have made Mr. Holden a well-liked new teacher at Bellevue. Hailing from Minnesota, Mr. Holden has attended several eastern colleges. He enjoys doing almost anything, from hunting mushrooms to listening to a person's problems. Appropriately he teaches psychology, and Introduction to Western Thought, as well as U.S. history.

MR. JOSEPH HYLLAND

The harmonizing tones blended from the voices of many boys and girls are especially pleasing to Mr. Hylland, Bellevue's vocal music maestro. Mr. Hylland leads the girls' glee club as well as the Bellevue choir, which furnished many delightful public performances.

MR. RICHARD JENKINS

Mechanical drawing is the subject taught by Mr. Jenkins. He claims that in his spare time he can be found "counting his gold" and tinkering with his "ole" cars, looking for doubloons in the grease pan, perhaps! Mr. Jenkins also asserts that he enjoys teaching at Bellevue and finds his work as fascinating challenge.

MR. JACK JONES

Hailing from Glenn's Ferry, Idaho, our metal shop teacher, Mr. Jones, is a fisherman at heart and a lover of the Pacific Northwest. Mr. Jones has pleasant visions of a fisherman's life second only to what he regards as the pleasant realities of teaching. Surrounded by the vigorous racket of metal shop, Mr. Jones must dream, now and then of a quiet nook by a stream full of trout.

MR. LEONARD JONES

"Let's give a yell for Coach Jones" is so familiar that it's doubtful whether anyone leaves Bellevue High and ever forgets this popular football coach. The stadium, however, is not the only place one meets Coach Jones, who spends nerve-wracking hours educating students about the fascinating sport of driving. He is an ardent advocate of good sportsmanship on football field and highway.

MISS MARJORIE KEISTER

June is an important month for Bellevue's smiling Miss Keister, because then she will become the bride of our biology teacher, Mr. Hansler. The girls in Miss Keister's sewing classes hope, however, that she will continue her career, in combination with making a happy home for herself and husband. The couple plans to spend this summer in Mexico.

MRS. MARY JEAN KEWLEY

Although Mrs. Kewley, who hates rain, may live in the wrong part of the country, Bellevue would not seem the same without her. As Latin teacher she brings this ancient language to modern life with her clever witticisms. As junior class advisor, Mrs. Kewley has many opportunities to show her versatility.

MISS DONNA LEER

Being petite is the chief physical trait of Bellevue's perky Miss Donna Leer, but when asked her pet peeve, she replied with strong conviction "The repetitious use of such sloppy words as 'deal'! People shouldn't be so mentally lazy!" Naturally, Miss Leer teaches English, junior variety, and is junior counselor. In spare time she does swimming and skiing.

MR. WILLIAM LAMONT

"Open to page . . . and let's read together." . . . This refrain along with guitar strains are familiar to Mr. Lamont's composition, American literature, English literature, and humanities students. Mr. Lamont combines a love for what he calls his "favorite animal," the high school senior, with his conspicuous characteristics of generosity, to richly deserve the honored title of "teacher," in the deepest sense of the word.

MR. RAY LINCOLN

Being a man of unusual patience and calm, Mr. Lincoln, drivers' education teacher, has many opportunities to exercise these essential characteristics. When he does not have one foot on the brake, Mr. Lincoln enjoys camping in the mountains or watching "Maverick" on television.

MISS MARION LONGTIN

"I don't have my lesson because . . .", is the pet peeve of Bellevue's Spanish teacher, Miss Longtin. A native of Seattle, she attended the University of Washington and majored in Spanish and English. Her favorite hobby is rambling down to Mexico. At home she enjoys quizzes and news on TV. When asked her favorite form of animal life, she replied emphatically, "Cats!"

MR. EDWARD MATKOVICH

Mr. Matkovich, who left Czechoslovakia about a decade ago, and has spent ten years in various colleges, is an inspirational addition to the foreign language department, where he teaches French and German. On weekends, Mr. Matkovich heads for the mountain slopes with the rest of Bellevue's "snowbunnies."

MISS MARGARET MCCARTHY

That tantalizing aroma drifting from the south end of the building originates from no other source than Miss McCarthy's cooking classes. She can often be found bravely tasting some of the "goodies" prepared by her students. In her spare time, between mixing the cake and waiting for it to be done to perfection, Miss McCarthy dreams of traveling in Europe.

MR. JAMES MORGAN

New to the faculty this year, Mr. Morgan says his favorite subjects are United States history and sociology. He has been seen regularly at the basketball games with his two small daughters and at home he enjoys reading, archery, and rocking—in a chair! When asked of his plans for the future, Mr. Morgan replied, "Build a bomb shelter! What else?"

MR. FRANK ODLE

"Land no!" is the expression heard by Mr. Odle's mathematics students, when a ridiculous answer is given, but nevertheless, he is always ready to help. He can be found on the job early, explaining to a frantic student how to solve that certain algebra problem. Out of school, Mr. Odle becomes a "world traveler."

MRS. MEREDITH OLSON

The sounds emerging from the football huddle which unfailingly gathers around Mrs. Olson each morning almost always relate to algebra or geometry. Outside of her classes and when not "buried in kids," Mrs. Olson enjoys sewing, water sports, and folk dancing to Scandinavian music.

MRS. CHARLES OSGOOD

Mr. Osgood, woodshop prexy, was born in Hoquiam, Washington, attended the University of Washington and C.W.C.E., majored in industrial arts and finally migrated to Bellevue to teach the boys how to miss their thumbs and hit the nail. A lover of sports, Mr. Osgood can be found helping "hammer home" the technique of packing a pigskin "tooth and nail" through the opposition.

MR. ELMON OUSLEY

"Mr. Chairman, worthy opponents, ladies and gentlemen," is the introduction characteristic of beloved debate and speech teacher, Mr. Ousley. Claiming that his favorite subject is high school students, he says he feels that he has 150 children a year. Mr. Ousley's pet peeve is "people who get their heads so far in the clouds they can't keep their feet on the ground."

MISS DOROTHY OUTZS

Skiing, travelling, and girls' physical education provide a well-rounded program for Miss Outzs. Besides her summer travelling in Europe, Mexico, Canada and Hawaii, her winter activities with Bellevue's ski program takes her trekking to the mountains as coach and instructor. In school hours Miss Outzs keeps up her exercise as G.A.A. leader and P.E. instructor.

MR. GENE PETERS

Formerly wood shop teacher, Mr. Peters now rules supreme in the auto mechanics department. A graduate of the University of Washington, Mr. Peters has taught in the Bellevue school district four years and seems vigorous enough to endure the rigors of shop work for many more. He likes to get his head from under a hood to inhale fresh air while camping and hiking in Yosemite, California.

MR. TOM POTTER

Mr. Potter, who's ambition is to become wealthy, is better known for such expressions as "Wake me at noon." With five periods of sophomore English each day, though, Mr. Potter has little time for fishing and his "love of leisure."

MR. GEORGE RIEF

The tweet of birds, a few goats, an occasional dog followed by possibly a few more birds, which have little birds, and the famous "Chemists, Please!", paint a humorous picture of chemistry teacher Mr. Rief. Born in Seattle, Mr. Rief stayed close to home to teach at Bellevue and even says his favorite vacation sports are in the Northwest.

MRS. STELLA ROGERS

Somewhere in the midst of neatly arranged office machines and beautiful plants and flowers one finds Mrs. Rogers, explaining the intricacies of bookkeeping, office practice, shorthand, or the work of Student Stenos. In off duty hours, she finds time for her husband, her gardening and her white pussy cat.

MR. HAROLD SAWATZKY

While visions of future Penthouses dance in his head, Mr. Sawatzky does a vigorous job of teaching sophomores and juniors to appreciate his favorite hobby, English and reading. His first year at Bellevue has been a busy one, coaching all dramatic productions and reorganizing the Drama Club. His "Ivy League" styles have set the tone of men's fashion around school in the "snazzy" jacket set.

MR. DON SIMMONS

Even the splashiest modern artist could not paint a picture as colorful as the personality of Bellevue's new art instructor, Mr. Simmons. Due to his extreme enthusiasm for his profession, Mr. Simmons develops many student artists who win awards in exhibits. The Bellevue art room, presided over by this fervent character, is a fascinating spot.

MR. JOHN SORENSEN

Sails, skis and artists' tools are the favorite extra-curricular items of physics and civics teacher Mr. Sorensen. As a native of the Northwest, he enjoys vacationing in the San Juans, but hopes that when he reaches retirement he can retire to such an exotic spot as Guadalajara. Meanwhile, he does very "handsomely" by Ohm's law and the Bill of Rights.

MR. JOHN TERREY

Absorbing the fascinating contents of term papers is the favorite (?) pastime of the senior English teacher fondly known as "Terrible Terrey." Mr. Terrey, an ardent politician, plans upon retirement, some day, "to sit, and if driven by ambition, to rock." Meantime, he would like to rock the Republicans' boat.

MR. ARNOLD TORGERSON

Mr. Torgerson, who was born on a cable car, says that he has been on the "go" ever since. His interests range all the way from fishing to cooking, to psychology. Having attended five different colleges, Mr. Torgerson is well prepared, as senior class counselor, to help bewildered seniors plan their futures.

MR. FRED WHITNER

"Do you have any questions?", asks Mr. Whitner in algebra and geometry. When not guiding the young through such puzzling courses, he follows interests of another sort—golf and photography. Favorite subjects that cock this shutterbug's shutter, as he tees off for a photo shot, are San Francisco, the Canadian Rockies, and his beloved daughter.

MR. WILLIAM WICKER

There is very little relaxing done in so-called "Agony Hall," the music wing of Bellevue High School, dubbed as above by Mr. Wicker, music maestro. In addition to directing the senior high band, Mr. Wicker directs three other school bands in the district and is now organizing a dance band. Amid the cacophony of all these bands, it is no wonder Mr. Wicker escapes now and then to dream the joys of a perch pond or trout stream.

MRS. VIRGINIA WIEDER

Mrs. Wieder's favorite place in Bellevue High is her pint-sized office. Why? Because she is sophomore class counselor, and her little office is where she meets her favorite subject—boys and girls, and her favorite problem—their problems. Her pet peeve is "giver-uppers."

MR. GLEN YOUNG

New to the Wolverine den this year, Mr. Young is an ardent teacher of typing. He is also the happy father of two lively daughters who keep him hopping. Nevertheless, he finds energy to guide numb-fingered neophytes through their f-j's, f-j's, and spends many strenuous hours coaching varsity basketball.

THEY STEER US ON

Operating the controls of the Associated Student Body requires plenty of ambition and drive. This year's student body officers have carried out their duties as school leaders very dynamically.

Sitting in the driver's seat was Don Ward, our jovial A.S.B. President. Don has capably headed the Board of Control Meetings, presided at assemblies and guided the numerous affairs of Bellevue's growing student body. Don got behind this year's A.S.B. Card Sales contest with Bothell and provided plenty of acceleration. Here his school spirit and ambition gained him the respect of everyone. Bellevue sold to about 94% of the entire student body while Bothell took second place with 89%. We were honored by an exchange assembly from Bothell in payment for this debt. In some of our athletic contests, Don was on the receiving end of a pie in the face. This showed what a good sport he is and added to his amiability.

Jeanne Heckard, our "Mighty Mite" of Vice-President, was Don's capable "back seat" driver, but she was on the "front seat" of Student Court. Jeanne also was the key member of the Assembly Planning Committee. Last summer she represented the students of Bellevue Senior High at Twinlow, Idaho, a camp for school leaders.

Judy Cordson, secretary may have been new last year, but the only trace left of her "newness" is her Texas accent. Judy says things are always done in a big, thorough way in Texas. Well, that may be because Judy certainly did her secretarial job that way.

Busy, busy, busy is the only way to describe A.S.B. Treasurer, Margit Anderson. For at least one hour a day, Margit worked on the class and club treasuries as well as keeping a complete set of balanced books for the whole student body. Margit found this work so satisfying that she plans to do some kind of related work as her profession.

It is only fair to mention the parking place for these student body officers, which is none other than the A.S.B. Office. Mr. Terrey was the chief mechanic here. The famous and colorful bulletin board, plus the gales of laughter that were a part of this room, will always be associated with the officers' memories of Bellevue High.

The excellent work of these students should enable them to leave Bellevue Senior High School with the feeling that they have played vital roles as important gears in the complex mechanism of a modern high school.

THEY SLOW US DOWN

"Will the meeting please come to order!" was a phrase heard every Wednesday in the conference room, as A.S.B. President, Don Ward, called for silence. At these weekly meetings the council met to aid in the administration of our school and solve numerous student body problems.

The enthusiastic council was composed of one representative from each first period class and the A.S.B. officers. This school-spirited group of students concentrated its efforts on enforcing the constitution, making new amendments, interpreting the old, and suggesting improvements. In homerooms the representatives discussed council proceedings and announced decisions of the council to their classmates. Also suggestions and ideas were carried to the council from the homerooms by the representatives.

To maintain order in school, the A.S.B. Court, composed of a boy and girl from each class — senior, junior, sophomore — imposed penalties upon violators of school rules. With Jeanne Heckard, A.S.B. Vice President, acting as head, the members of the court imposed sentences tailored to the degree of severity of the violation.

It was a busy and successful year for the A.S.B., led by Bellevue's own legislative and judicial bodies — Council and Court.

THEY STEER A STRAIGHT ROAD

Bonnie MacLean, Girls' Club president steered this year's bus-load of beautiful belles along the route of Smorgasbord, Tolo and other girls' doings. "Back-seat drivers" were vice-president Margaret Milligan, secretary Margaret Madsen, treasurer Jo Anne Rossio, and historian Ilene Eggers. Mrs. Wieder, club adviser, was chief mechanic for her lively crew.

Smorgasbord came first, managed by Beth Hage and Jennifer Blackburn. Sue Grundman and Sara Flanders sparked the Tolo and Mothers' Day Tea. Janet Tufts and staff used up lots of "gas" in the club paper, "Notes and Quotes."

The Boys' Club year started with a bang and a crash — the sounds of sledges striking metal in this year's "car smash."

Committees were set up to cover various, special aspects of school life, such as Dads' Night, the Smoker, and a sock dance, the usual activities.

Something new was added this year, the purchase of Boys Club pins, and with this novel "touch" the club had an active season.

SENIOR COUNCIL

THE FUEL FOR THE CLASSES

A fire ravaged the home of one of Bellevue's families — the people were left without food, clothes, or possessions. The way our class councils enthusiastically helped them out well illustrated their aggressive spirit.

How do they operate? Each English class elects two representatives to its respective class council. Taking the ideas from his comp or lit class to be discussed in the meeting, each representative acts as co-ordinator of his class's activities. During council meetings, the various representatives present their arguments for or against issues, according to the opinions of their constituents.

The dynamic senior class council set a high standard for the rest of the groups this year. It led its class in a newspaper drive to make money for class projects, and put on a successful carnival where all the clubs bought booths. The sophomore council sponsored a bingo game on a Chinese theme; the juniors built a peep show that featured Hawaiian dancing.

The class of '58 will leave a Wolverine plaque to Bellevue High to be inlaid in the front foyer.

The large attendance at the senior class play was due to the hard work of this council, which put on a good publicity campaign.

When school spirit was lagging in soggy football season, some peppy juniors got together with their class officers and made huge paper J's to pin on the back of every junior attending the game.

Thus one can see that the active standing of each class largely depends on the council.

CLASSES

Bellevue Senior High School students, working in unison, level out the year's bumps into a smooth highway.

"ANTIO THALIA"

From the sunny land of Greece, came Thalia Saroglou, our foreign exchange student. Bellevue Senior High School was deeply honored by her presence, for she has enriched our knowledge by giving us an insight of the life of her land and proving to us that countries can become, not just acquaintances, but life long friends. On the remainder of this page is a message from Thalia's heart to you, the students of Bellevue High.

"There is no doubt that this year of my life, this year that I spent away from my home and my country, will always remain in my heart as one of the dearest and most precious of memories. Working for an ideal that the American Field Service planted into my heart, namely working for peace among all nations, was my main interest.

I was awfully glad to find out that people all over the world are much the same, that they think the same, and mostly act the same. It was an easy thing for me to mix in regardless of my nationality, and become a "daughter" of my beloved American family, and a member of Bellevue Senior High School.

The experience I've gained will be precious for all the rest of my life. I will always be grateful to all of you, for this experience.

May God be with you for ever, my good friends!"

Bellevue High also had the opportunity to instruct three other foreign students. From the snow covered slopes of Norway, came Oslo's vivacious, blue eyed Inger Ericsson. Inger found Bellevue very pleasurable, however, she was surprised to see the girls wearing skirts instead of long pants to school. During her stay, Inger could be seen at our football games, ski club fashion shows, and of course, skiing.

From Norway's neighbor, Sweden, came the amiable John Hansson. When asked what he liked best about Bellevue, he replied, "Oh the PEOPLE, and put that in capital letters." John's visit to Bellevue was altogether too limited, however, he may return for a short visit in 1959. He was very astonished to see the wonderful student-teacher relationship that we have at Bellevue. Yes, John, we will surely miss you.

And from Paris, France, with the Eiffel Tower still lingering in her dark expressive eyes, came charming Genevieve Hameury. She soon found to her amazement that Bellevue High School teaches not only girls, but many, many boys. This is very different from the French method where the boys and girls attend different schools. Genevieve soon conquered the English language, delightfully adding the flowing French accent.

We also wish you, our good friends, the blessing of God. Please come back to Bellevue, for we'll miss you when you go.

OPEN ROAD AHEAD

Roaring down the road of life, the class of '58 now shifts into high gear, preparing for what lies ahead.

After being the first and only class to spend four years in the Junior High School, the students commenced their journey through the Senior High. Always moving, the class decided upon a few unusual trips. As sophomores they went "Swinging on a Star" to ethereal realms. The Devil took over in the junior year when everyone spent "A Night in Hades." A Mediterranean sojourn was their last exotic venture as a group.

Initiative and drive have always marked this class. Small but mighty, the class of '58 was the first to send a foreign exchange student, Judd Haverfield, abroad to Spain to study European life. It was also the first class to have a carnival. For two years in a row, this mighty midget of a class held the Homecoming Plaque.

The senior year was spent under the guidance of counselor Mr. Torgerson, and advisers Mrs. Davidson, Mr. Durham, Mr. Hoech, Miss Longtin, Mrs. Olson, and Mr. Ousley, who spread the map out before us.

Louie Vitalich steered the speedy little machine, while Frank Tsujihara and Chuck Thomas did the shifting. Ruthie Dahlstrom and Margaret Madsen recorded the mileage for the journey. Paul Wiswell and Mike Donaldson paid for the gas. The officers had plentiful assistance from a class of back seat drivers.

Many honors were awarded within the class. Ilene Eggers, with her ready smile, was Senior Girl of the Year, and Joy Ibsen was Homecoming Queen. Most dramatic of class honors went to the six boys and girls who were semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, giving Bellevue, about three times as large a percentage representation as Roosevelt, the nearest rival.

Many obstacles stood in the way of the hopped up little bomb. Miss Aasen, Mrs. Allen, Miss Carman, Mr. Lamont, and "Terrible" Terrey flooded the car in verbal torrents. Miss Hardy, Mr. Watson, and Mr. Odle provided numerical barriers that were slowly surmounted. Tricky turns were laid out in the road by Mr. Lowe, Mr. Durham, and Mr. Sorenson. Miss Keister, Miss Outzs, Mrs. Myre, Mr. Bierman, and Mr. Ousley showed interesting side trips. Now on a scholarship to Stanford, Mr. DeBruler was formerly on hand, providing an able friend and mechanic, someone whom we could stop and talk to during tiresome stretches of our journey.

As a monument to the finish of one journey and the beginning of another, the seniors left an oversized hubcap, a plaque, to be revered by the following classes as a symbol of the spirit and the class of '58.

HIGH OCTANE BRAINS

Being "intellectual" enough to compose the academic top 5% of the Senior class doesn't stop these fourteen ambitious students from doing their share of the other work around Bellevue Senior High, or their share of play, either.

Butch Lauman heads the 1958 class as valedictorian. Butch served as Boys' Club president this year. Bill Black is a close second as 1958 salutatorian, contributed much to the debate team.

Bill McClellan and Ruth Dahlstrom did their part by working very hard to put out the Beacon, Bill as editor-in-chief, and Ruth as an especially active associate editor.

Will Taylor and Margaret Madsen headed the senior carnival. Valerie Broze and Judd Haverfield did a fine job as co-chairmen of the senior ball. Margit Anderson and Judy Cordsen were both class officers; Judy kept the minutes and Margit counted the money. Mickie Weber and Carol Christopherson enhanced Bellevue's drama department. Mickie directed the all-school play and Carol acted in productions staged by both Bellevue High school and Bellevue Playbarn. Leonard Johnson and Lief Carter, both semi-finalists in the Merit Scholarship tests, showed by their participation in sports that brains mixed with brawn make a fine fuel for the human motor.

SOME WORK . . . SOME PLAY

PREPARING FOR FINAL STRETCH

All gassed up and ready to roll is the class of 1959. Better watch out 'cuz here they come! What is the secret fuel that keeps this high powered class always speeding on toward new activities and higher goals? It's no secret. With such leaders as Robin Over, president; Steve Day, Skip Lindblad, vice-presidents; Eloise Alonzo, Madge Gomez, secretaries; and Midge Moch, Carlos Sullivan, treasurers, the class was sure to go fast and far.

By the time that the first milestone flashed by, the juniors had once more won the homecoming window. Susie Long and Lee Lee McGuire were the choices for princesses at the dance that evening.

The second road marker showed the boundless spirit with which juniors cheered their athletic classmates proving their ability in football, basketball, skiing and all other sports. Leading them were peppy, pretty song and cheerleaders Lani Gruger, Nancy Newman, Nancy Garwood, and Maxine Early. During basketball season junior Steve Balogh "gunned his motor" along with Lee Lee McGuire and Margie Kelso at every game to contribute hugely to school spirit.

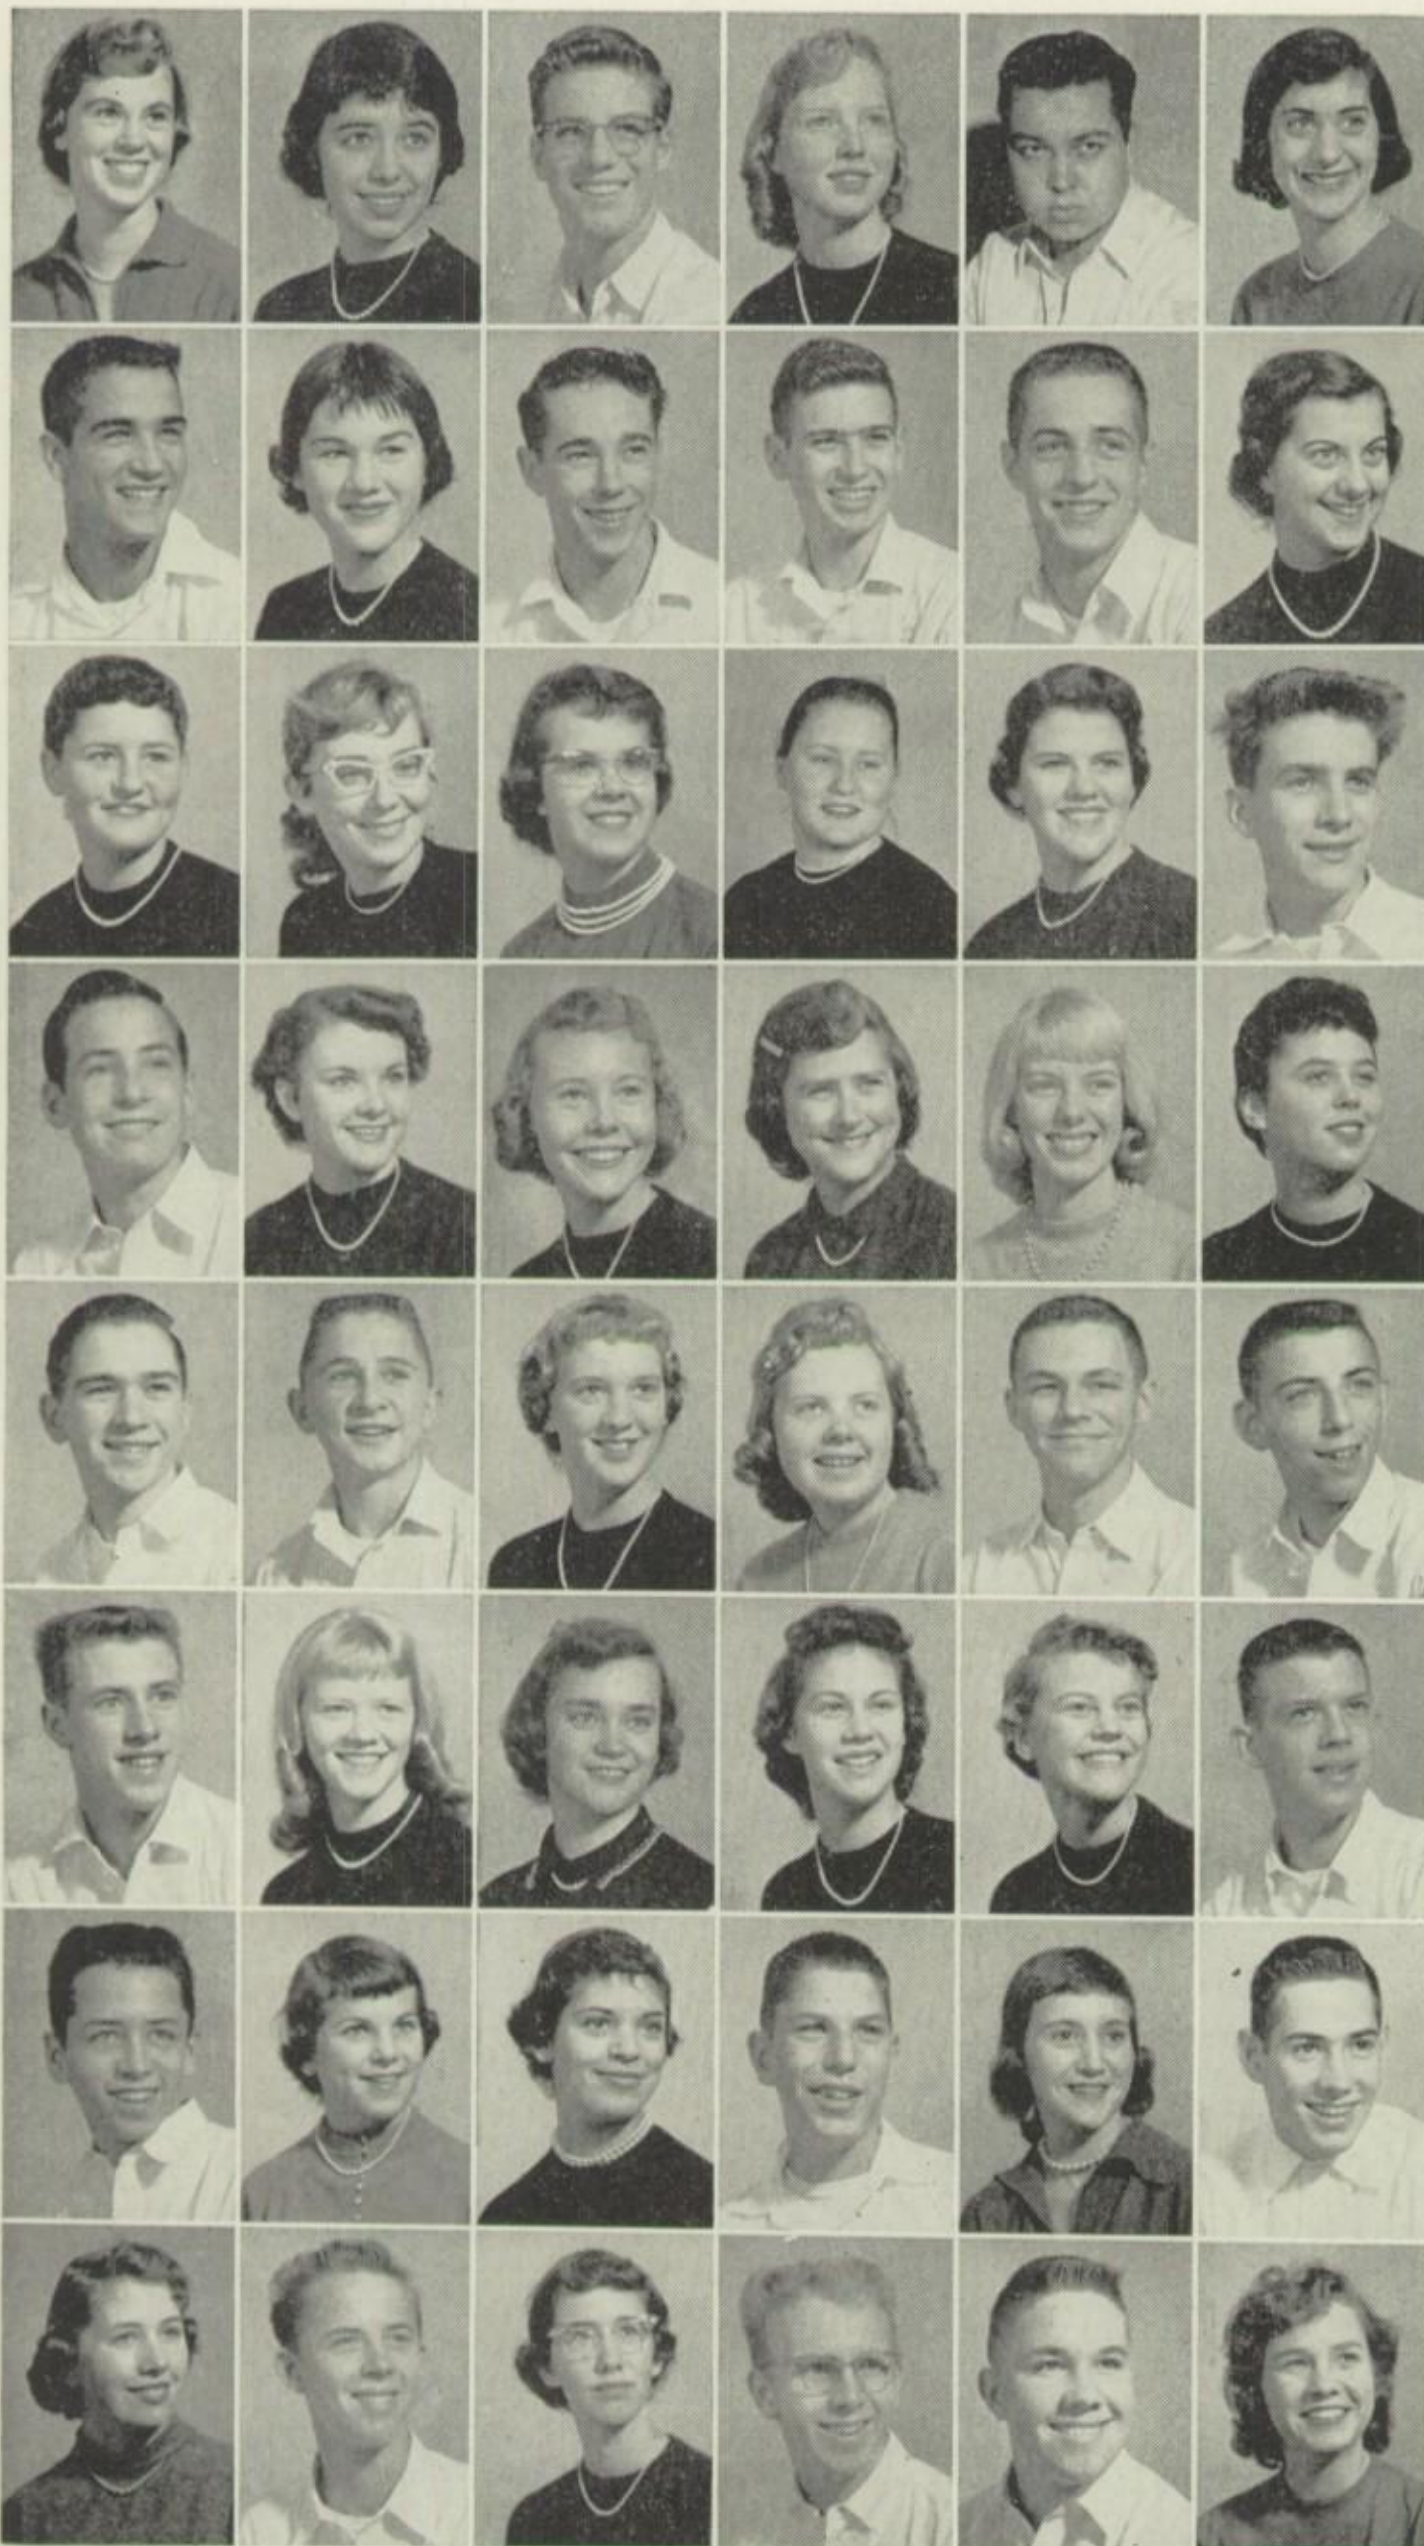

Passing the next mark at Christmas, juniors were out in force to sell fruitcakes as well as sponsoring a car wash. To show that they could do more than just sell and scrub, the class of '59 made an all-out effort to make "Celestial Winter" the coolest prom for many a year.

Speeding ever on to more and more activities, this flashy class displayed exceptional histrionical talents in the Variety Show and All-School Play. In between these activities the students found time to exercise their brains by doubling the number of participants on the Honor Society cruise.

The road of the junior year led to far parts. Midge Moch was elected as the foreign exchange student to Europe in the summer, and next year the class will welcome a student in return.

Even though the class of '59 went racing on to those new activities and higher goals they didn't leave anyone behind. Terry Smith, injured the year before in an accident, attended classes at home by means of a speaker hooked up in U. S. History and English classrooms. So, all together, the junior class proved beyond a doubt that it was really a high-gearred group.

SHIFTING INTO HIGH SCHOOL

The "small model" sophomores, did you say? Look again! Not only do they comprise the class with the highest HP in numbers, but also they have made themselves a well-oiled, smoothly meshed part of the Bellevue Senior High machine in activities, athletics, and school spirit.

To start this year with a fast peel-off this class plunged into Homecoming activities under the leadership of Lori Dafoe. In keeping with school tradition, they had charge of half-time, and entertained the fans with a skit about the Issaquah Indians, Bellevue's rival that night. Princesses Bonnie Funk and Sharon Hentschell helped reign over the Homecoming crowd. The sophs had a stake not only in Homecoming itself, but also on the team. Four sophomore lettermen helped "rev" Bellevue up to victory.

A canned food drive around Thanksgiving proved the sophomores have a heart as large as their numbers. They surpassed the juniors and seniors in providing for Bellevue's needy families.

It seems as if this class really started something when they made their own dance programs. Keith Dowie was chairman of the Soph Hop, "Ebb Tide."

In the usual confusion just before a dance, one sophomore was almost eliminated. When the decoration committee was putting up the tarp which hides the gym bleachers, the tape slipped. The fabric billowed down in huge piles, completely covering him. But he emerged unscratched to participate with the rest of the school in having a good time that night.

Three sophomores, Neil Holman, Tom Bass, and Steve Telfer proved to be a big boon to the ski team.

You couldn't have missed the underclassmen's booth at the Senior Carnival where bingo with an oriental theme was played.

To have an active class, you must have active leaders. The kids who guided the sophs through the year with cut-out, wide open spirit were Gary Groth, president and under him first semester: Keith Dowie, vice-president; Kitt Kelley, secretary and Lori Dafoe, treasurer. Second semester were Larry Sweeney, Dee Dee Dickinson, and Lonny Liffick in the above offices.

ENTERTAINMENT

The progressive success of Bellevue High School's entertainment is comparable to the smooth running of a well organized motor.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE

The Senior Class Play, "Room For One More," was proceeding smoothly onstage. Backstage pandemonium prevailed! The cast had left out ten pages! Mr. Sawatzky and the student directors Sue Wening and Dave Sternoff were frantic while the cast, with a veteran air, adlibbed until they were able to pick up the missing dialogue. The audience was left with no inkling of the turmoil behind the scenes.

This incident was only one of many incurred in the fun and work which went into the Senior Play. Centered around a warm-hearted family living in a small Maine cottage, "the pumpkin shell," the story was about the assimilation of two orphans — Janey, Melanie Sheafe, and a juvenile delinquent, Tremaine Arkley, into the family and the subsequent closeness persistent through the death of the father, Don Ward. Valerie Broze played the mother while Mike Donaldson was Joey, a young adult still growing up. The resuscitation of a turtle by Trot, Judy Beusch; Teensie, Judy Kennedy; and Janey added chuckles to the heart-touching play.

The gift to Mr. Sawatzky of a rock 'n roll record climaxed the production. A surprise award was given — Valerie Broze was selected as the inspirational actress!

WHO DID IT?

The curtain rose on an empty stage at 8 o'clock, March 21, for the 1958 All School Play, "The Remarkable Incident at Carson Corners." The players entered from the rear of the gymnasium in the midst of animated conversation. They walked to the stage and the mysterious story began to unfold.

The twenty-six member cast portrayed a play about Bill, a young boy, who fell off a fire escape and plunged to his death. The students jumped to the conclusion that the school janitor was responsible for the boy's death because the boy had accidentally seen some money which the janitor had stolen. As the story progresses, several of Bill's friends stage a mock trial and discover that many people, including his father and civic leaders, were in some way responsible for the tragedy.

The play, under the direction of Mr. Sawatzky and student directors, Mickey Weber and Jeanette Strickland, proved to be a moving experience for the audience. As a finale to the year of hard work put in by Mr. Sawatzky, the cast made a gift to him of a director's outfit — complete even to a cigarette holder.

THEY MADE A BIG SPLASH

By the sea . . . is a refrain from the popular 1920's song which many people will hum in memory, in future years, when they recall this year's Variety Show. Cast members beat the waves as they "swam" into full rehearsal under the coaching of Mr. Sawatzky, and the inspiration of Bob Brown, student director.

When the curtain parted, Wally Russell and Dave Sternoff, to the delight of the audience, were perched as lifeguards on a square tower, from which they did not permit the show to emit a single drowning gurgle.

Various hip-swinging ensembles did plenty of fancy stepping in Hulas, ballets, cha-chas, and rock-'n'-rolls, as they capered over the sands of the beach. The clams, it is rumored, will never be the same.

ALWAYS ON KEY

Under the expert baton of Mr. Hylland, Girls' Glee Club made fine harmony this year. Besides singing for teas, luncheons and civic meetings, fifteen of these girls and a soprano soloist entered the annual music contest at the University of Washington.

Another group which has added to Bellevue's wealth of culture is the choir, consisting of about 160 members. Five choir members went to all-state choir this year: Kerri Wolfstone, Allen Young, Kathy Bishop, Bill Black and Jack Kellum.

The junior and senior sextettes, both of which originated in the choir, sang at assemblies, the Mothers' Day tea, and their respective class dinners.

Both the glee club and choir performed in the Variety Show and gave a Christmas program.

ALL TUNED UP

"Forward, March!" With that the Bellevue High Band began another busy year under the direction of Mr. Wicker. With Roger Robinson as drum major, the band did a good job of promoting school spirit by preparing football half-time shows and playing at pep assemblies and games.

This year, as usual, the band marched in the Santa Claus Parade. A brass-percussion ensemble accompanied the choir in the Christmas Cantata. Besides performing at the winter and spring concerts, the band played at the junior highs and many other places.

In April the band gave fine performances at the Kingco League Festival and the State Contest Festival. Many members of this vivacious group participated in the solo and ensemble contests.

And now, the band can call a "halt!" to its activities, with the satisfaction that comes with a hard job well done.

ATHLETICS

Whether it's off to the races or a team match, competitive sports instill the spirit of a competitive country in the hearts of the Bellevue students.

COME ON WOLVERINES . . . GIVE US A GROWL!

This year's cheerleaders and songleaders did an excellent job in supporting the teams with their spirit and enthusiasm.

Songleaders Claire Guise, Ann Powell, Nancy Newman, and Lani Gruger, led Bellevue High School rooters in many original chants and songs. Cheerleaders Ray Phillips, Judy Bartos, Nancy Garwood, and Maxine Early helped create spirit with their lively yells.

Every Monday a dull roar could be heard in the A.S.B. office where these enthusiastic students planned pep assemblies and worked on routines.

HOMECOMING HONKS ITS HORN

Under the leadership of Charlene Burnell, Bellevue's Homecoming for 1957 became a sparkling event. On the sunny afternoon of November 1, Bellevue's Plaza was the scene where spirit and enthusiasm came forth in all their natural glory.

Attended by many graduates, the all important game between Issaquah and the mighty Wolverines took place that night. After the game Queen Joy Ibsen and her charming court reigned at the Homecoming dance, thus bringing to a close Bellevue's 1957 Homecoming.

Courage, Made a Team

PRACTICE AND WORK . . .

The hard working, hard fighting junior varsity football players will be a great asset to next year's varsity team. Together with the fundamentals which they worked hard to learn, they possess the spirit and energy necessary to a championship team.

These scrappers, most of whom were green at the first of the season, have shown many signs of improvement and development that give good cause for high hopes in football next year. Managers Ed James, Mike MacMurtray, and Noel Simonelli did the behind-the-scenes work so vital to the welfare of a ball club.

RACKING UP . . .

The Wolverines got off to an excellent start by winning games from Enumclaw 42-41, and South Kitsap 27-26, before losing to Federal Way 37-36. They bounced back to win from Seattle Prep 45-43. After losses to Mt. Si and two East-side opponents, Sunnyside and Toppenish, they defeated Issaquah 52-36 and Foster 77-38. In the latter, the Wolverines led by John Weatherford with 16 points, set a new Kingco conference scoring record for the points scored against an opponent by any one team.

The team then dropped the next two games to their old foes, Lake Washington, 55-34, and Mercer Island, 49-46. After these losses, the team jumped back and won three in a row. These were against Bothell, Mount Si, and Federal Way, with respective scores of 55-54, 58-47, and 60-38. Joe Davis took top scoring in all three games.

After losing to Foster, 60-59, and Issaquah, 44-43, the team bounced back, to score a tense upset against Mercer Island, 44-43. Brilliant playing by Bellevue's Bob Stanford, who held the state's leading scorer to only 14 points enabled the Wolverines to win this victory. Bellevue dropped her last two games to Bothell, 52-48, and Lake Washington, 55-54, hence lost a berth in the district tournament. Although they finished fourth in the league, the Wolverines at one time in the season outplayed each of the league leaders, and so demonstrated the qualities of a top team.

ENDURANCE AND SKILL...

This year's junior varsity, composed of hard-fighting sophomores and juniors, will be a valuable core to try for the position of championship team in 1959. Having produced a fine record in '58, both in wins and in performance, the boys' hopes for a championship team next year rest on a firm foundation. The experience gained by these lads this year will be a vital asset in varsity competition.

Fore! That's the call heard on the fairways at the Overlake Golf Course when the Bellevue High golf team goes into action. Strengthened by returning letterman Dick Wiede and helped by this year's new letterman, Bill Parent, the golf team struck out for the first time.

The team started the season slowly, but under the direction of Mr. Young, the organization wound up in second place. For the second year, the team lost first place by a peculiarity in the point system.

PONG! The tennis season is on its way. The team is comprised of such top performers as Phil Cacabellos, Al Hausske, Doug Jennings and Pat Dafoe. Under the coaching of Mr. Young, teacher and basketball coach new to Bellevue, the team should do well in its cross-court season. With tennis a major sport Lettermen's Club will no doubt be admitting some new members. A good percentage of the '57 team is on hand and the future looks promising for a new coach and season.

LET IT SNOW! LET IT SNOW! LET IT SNOW!

This year Bellevue ski team members are proud to say that they sponsored their own ski meet for the first time. The boys placed first under the leadership of Tremaine Arkley, with the girls second under Margaret Milligan. Placing for the Wolverines were Dick Arkley with first place, Tremaine Arkley fifth, and Jon Ostlund sixth. Forty boys competed.

At Wenatchee there was a four-way ski meet. Dick Arkley placed first in the cross-country run and downhill and third in slalom. Tremaine Arkley placed fifth in downhill, cross-country and jumping, and sixth in the slalom. Dick Arkley won the individual four-way, with Tremaine coming in third. As a team, the boys placed second to Wenatchee. For the girls, Valerie Broze placed second in the downhill race, and Margaret Milligan and Valerie second in the slalom.

The girls' ski team rose to victory at the All-City Invitational at Snoqualmie Summit. They displayed outstanding ability as a team by placing first. Libby Milligan as first in slalom, with Margaret Milligan second and Sandy Campbell fifth. Valerie Broze came in fifth in the downhill.

The teams have brought Bellevue to victory in many other ski events.

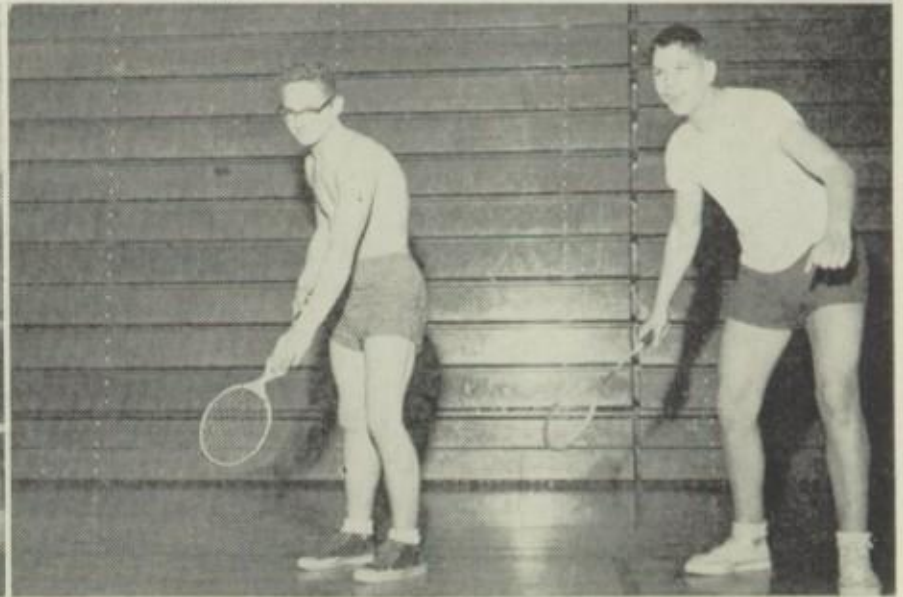

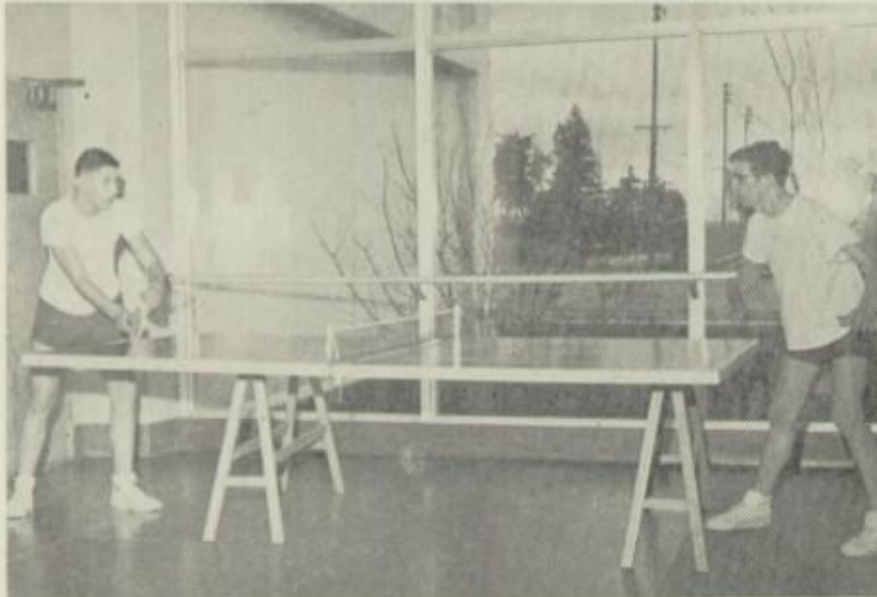

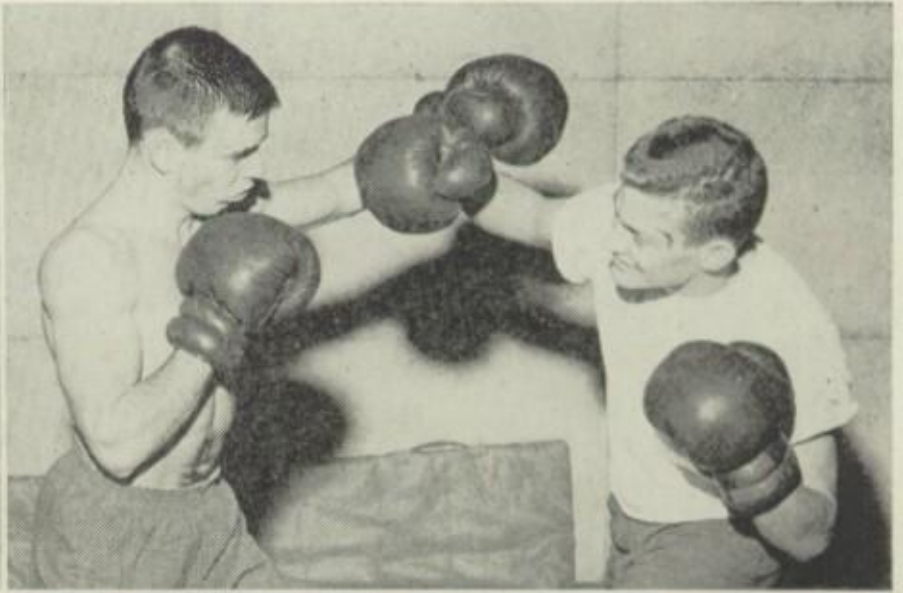

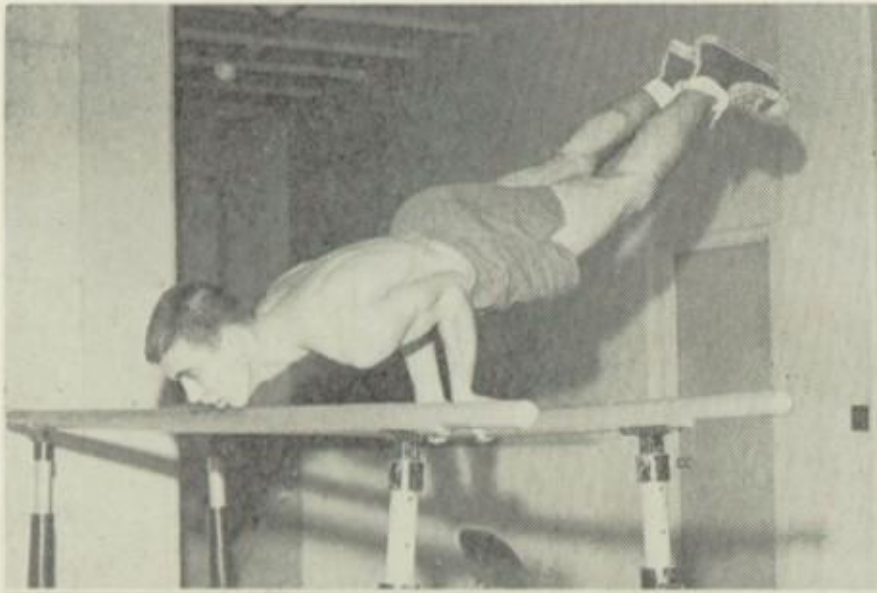

The boys' team was under the guidance of Mr. Edgar Monroe, and the girls' were led by Miss Outzs.

INTRAMURAL CHAMPS . . .

Each year the boys who don't or can't turn out for varsity sports are given the chance to participate in intramural sports. Many don't realize that the intramural games can be rough. In flag football, which is played without pads of any kind, the senior team won. The games, played after school or whenever the boys are able to get together, are usually refereed by faculty mem-

THEY OFFER A HELPING HAND

Wolverine Guard, an honorary service organization, has been busy this year. Besides the usual duties of keeping order in the halls and around the school, setting up chairs for assemblies and parking cars for the games, members sponsored a picnic for orphans, which was enjoyed by all.

Have you noticed the girls in the halls on Tuesday with their crisp white blouses, navy blue skirts and scarves? These girls belong to Loyalty Club, a senior girl honorary service organization which sponsors and promotes many activities, all helping to better our school and create a friendly atmosphere.

HEALTHY AND HAPPY... BIG AND BRAVE

The Girls' Athletic Association had an active start this season by sponsoring the first Kingco League playday of the year. This sport loving group of girls continued with meetings, after school turnouts, a ski "overnight," a mother-daughter "sportnight," and potluck dinners.

The G.A.A. has helped to foster true sportsmanship, and increase the physical efficiency of girls through a program of physical activities, guided by Miss Outzs and president Jo Anne Rossio.

Under the capable leadership of president Joe Davis, vice-president Paul Dobrin, secretary Lief Carter, treasurer Pete Campbell, and adviser Mr. Jones, Lettermen's Club has had an active and a prosperous year. By sponsoring the annual smoker, putting on a sock dance, and helping to enforce school rules, this outfit has proved itself a truly valuable club.

W E C A N ' T F L O O R T H E M !

For thirty-two years Bellevue's Honor Society has been growing and changing. This year the 51 members from each class — grand total 153 — have been led by president Judd Haverfield, vice-president Leonard Johnson, secretary Lennie Lawson, treasurer Phil Cacabelos, and adviser Mr. Odle.

Last year a new system of membership points was set up. By this a pupil must have 21 points at the end of the first sophomore semester, 40 points at the start of the junior year, and 76 at the beginning of the senior year. The points are accumulated on the basis of 5 for an A, 3 for a B, and 1 for a C, counting only semester grades.

The occasion to which all members eagerly look forward is the spring cruise. Selling two books of raffle tickets makes a member eligible for a full day's release from school and a boat trip in the bargain. This, if nothing else, lures 12-15% of the student body to earn grades good enough to meet Honor Society's strict admission requirements.

"Therefore be it resolved that the United States' foreign aid should be substantially increased" could be frequently heard in room 163 where debate class was held.

Much credit can be given to Wolverine debaters, who have brought to Bellevue High numerous honors among which are second place in Kingco, second in Seattle Pacific College A and B divisions, second for after dinner speaking, second for interviewing at Seattle Pacific College, and second and third for interpretation at Pacific Lutheran College.

Bellevue can be especially proud of debate club president Bill Black and vice-president Bob Brown, both of whom have earned the "degree of distinction," the highest National Forensic League degree, and have represented Bellevue in the state tournament. Also earning the "degree of distinction" was secretary Rita Van Etten. Thanks must also go to Sandy Siefarth, who was active as the club's treasurer.

Being admitted to state again for the sixteenth consecutive time proves the excellent job of coaching that was done by Mr. Ousley, who can also be commended on having received his diamond pin.

THEY SUPPLY THE FUEL FOR PEP

"Go get 'um team," is the cry of every Pep Clubber. Each Monday night, after school, the lively members devote their time to supporting the teams.

With Mr. Matkovick as adviser, this club promotes school spirit at games, assemblies and in general throughout the student body. In charge of all this enthusiasm is Dianne Whittington, the club's president. She and her eager followers exercise their many talents by making posters and beat signs, by organizing clever skits for assemblies, decorating goal posts, selling tickets, and working at concession stands. For variety a pot luck dinner was given for the enjoyment of all members. However, their biggest effort is put forth in promoting attendance at the games.

One of the special services that the members of Pep Club perform is feeding the players on the football team after every home game. The boys welcome the sandwiches, cookies, and milk provided by the girls after a tough, grueling workout.

The organization also works in close conjunction with the yell and song leaders in devising original, catchy and appealing cheers. Some of the more familiar products are "Vootie," "Klunk," and the special rendition of Hawaiian War Chant.

Next year the club members are planning to strive for the desirable all-white-blouse cheering section. They also intend to make the group more organized and unified. This will mean among other things, raising the qualifications for membership and establishing a point system in order that deserving individuals might be rewarded for their efforts.

Captions for individual names of the Ski Club have been omitted because of lack of space.

SWISH, THROUGH THE SLUSH!

Sunshine, beautiful mountain slopes and powder snow! These words spell "paradise" for the many Bellevue Kandahar Ski Club members.

The Ski Club, advised this year by Miss Outzs and led by president Tremaine Arkley, vice-president Dick Arkley, secretary Margaret Milligan, historian Libba Milligan, and treasurer Steve Page, had a membership of about eighty-six snow enthusiasts this year.

Among the various activities of the Kandahar Club, there were several interesting films shown by Mr. Moffett, the owner and manager of the Snoqualmie Ski Area. Also there was an excellent fashion show of the latest ski styles and ski equipment modeled by the girls of the club. However, the most important project was the sponsoring of the club's own Kandahar Ski School to teach all interested students the techniques of safe skiing and about the ski equipment to use. Beginners, intermediates, advanced, experts, and racing students took part in the school for eight consecutive weeks at the summit of Snoqualmie Pass. The students went up on buses Saturday morning, spent the day on the snowy slopes, skiing, and came home tired but happy Saturday evening.

All skiers who were ready by 7:45 on Saturday mornings with skis on their shoulders, sack lunches in hand, homework under their arms, and usually looking a bit drowsy, helped make this year a prosperous one for the Kandahar Ski Club.

The Ski School was concluded with a "cocktail" party for all the club members. There was food, dancing, and many trophies were given out to worthy skiers.

Branching out from this adventurous group were the boys' and girls' ski teams. Advised by Mr. Edgar Monroe and Miss Dorothy Ann Outzs, the teams were very successful in their meets this year, the girls' team winning the All-City Ski meet, and the boys winning the ski meet sponsored by Bellevue High School.

But in showery April, as the sparkling snow turned to slush and the hills became lush green again, each Kandahar member stored his ski equipment with happy memories of the happy glittering season and high hopes for much fun with fellow Kandahar Ski members and plenty of snow on the slopes next year.

“WHY, SURE, I’LL TYPE IT FOR YOU!”

Nearly four years ago, a group of six girls led by an ambitious faculty member, Mrs. Rogers, organized a club later to become a vital organ of Bellevue Senior High. This club, Student Stenos, was designed with the idea of service to the school and the community through the medium of typing and duplicating. Work was soon in full swing, and the reputation of Student Stenos grew. It grew so much that today membership has nearly tripled.

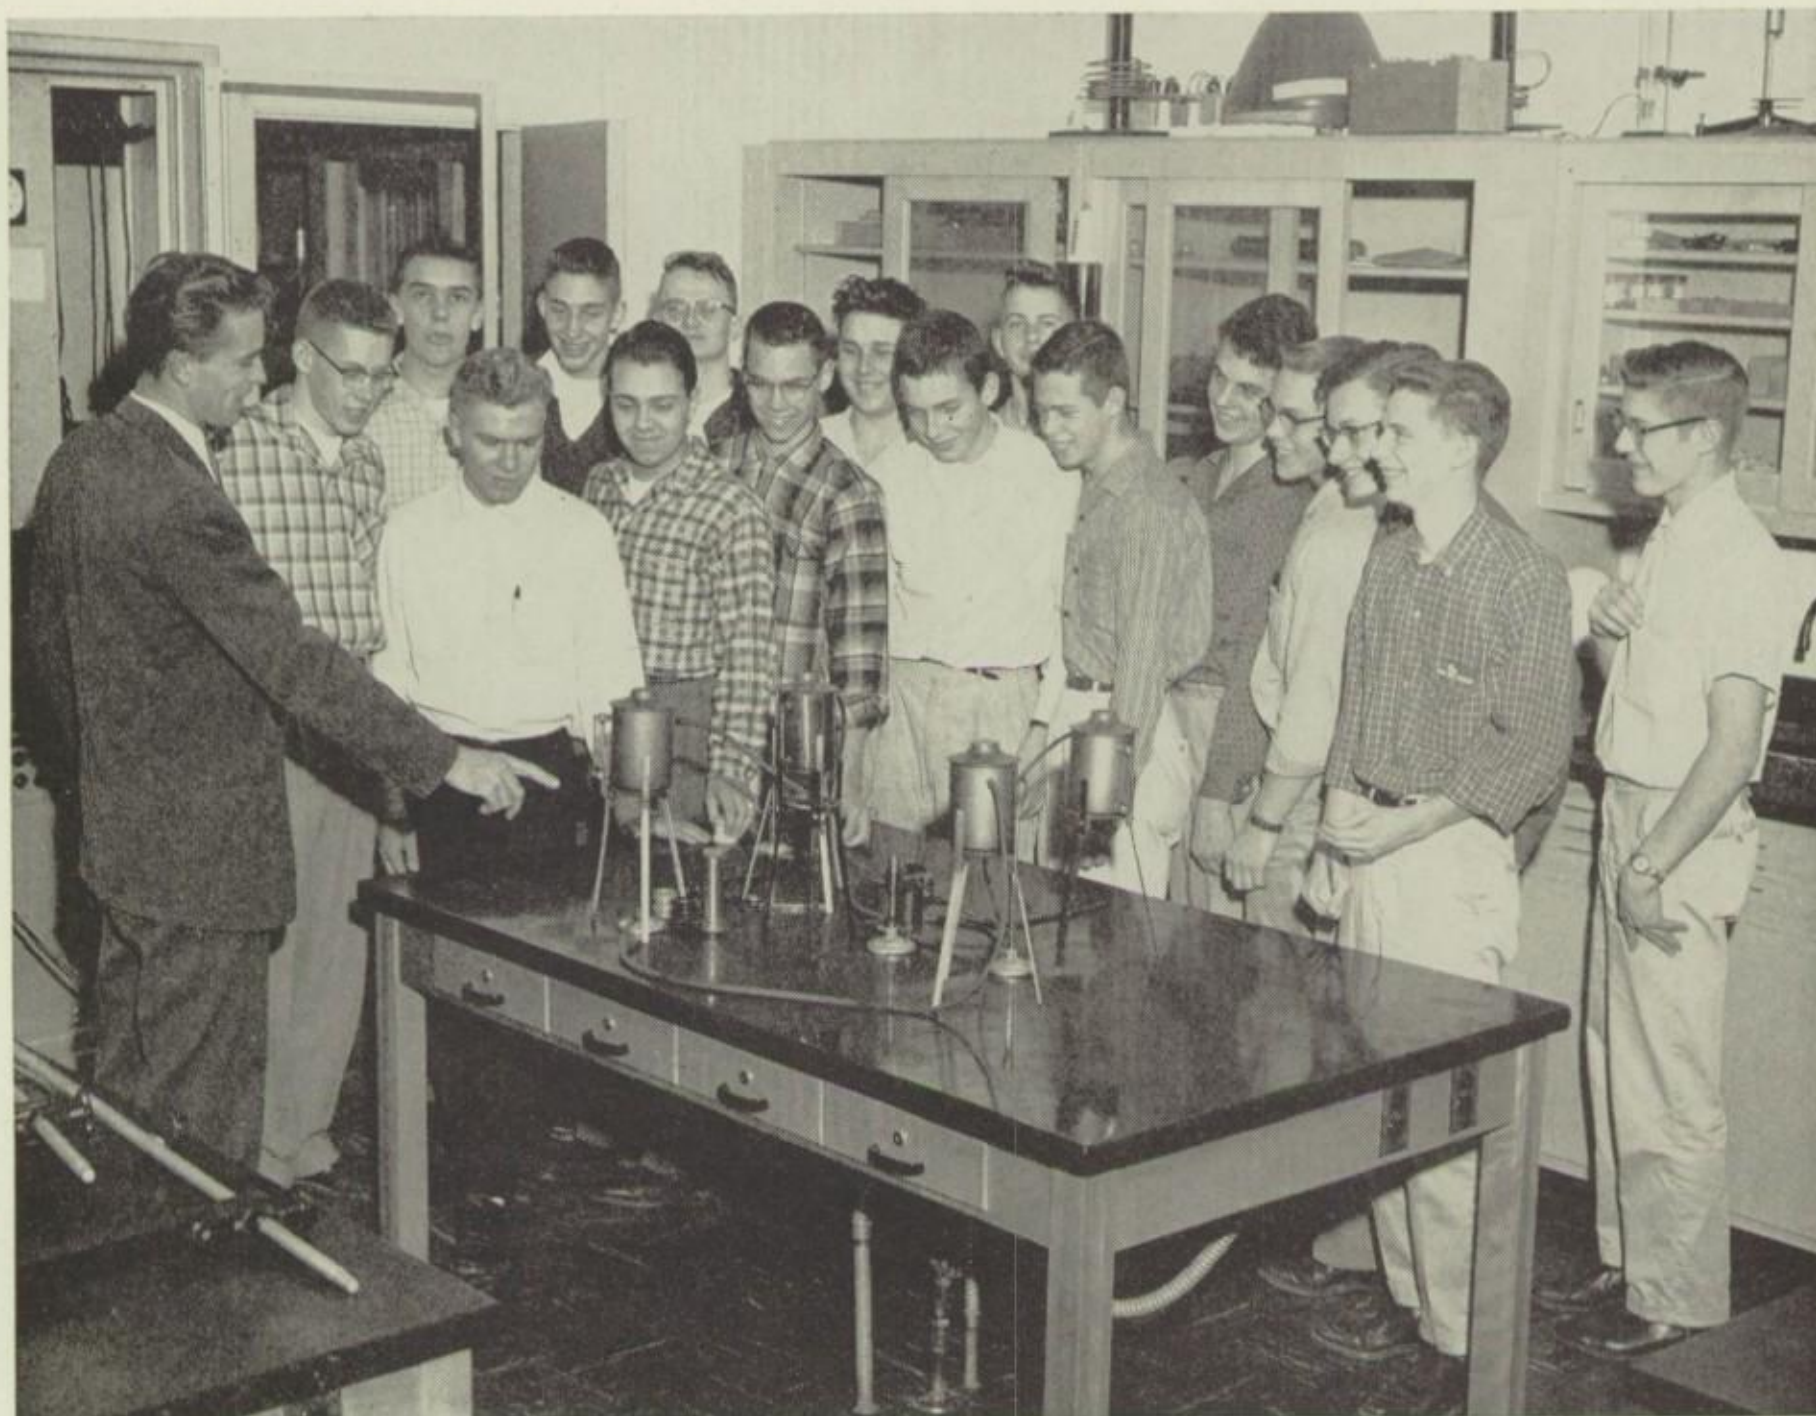

Along with typing and running off tests or assignments for teachers, and doing a large amount of outside work, the Stenos also find time to type term papers for students and mimeograph many dance programs. Each girl takes on a special responsibility when assigned an outside job, because the quality of this work helps give the community excellent impressions of Bellevue Senior High students.

This year, Ruth Ann Snow has successfully upheld the time-consuming position of president, while the bookkeeping part, which is equally difficult, has been carried out by treasurer Penny Sack.

To the members of Student Stenos, their organization is more than just an ordinary club or class. It is actual on-the-scene office work, the same as is carried on in businesses throughout our country and the world. Since this demands accuracy, as well as ambition, it is natural that Mrs. Rogers chooses only girls who are willing to strive for and achieve the “top notch” standards that previous Student Steno members have set.

NEXT, THE MOON

Through a slight miscalculation the first creature to be sent to the moon, Free-Fall Ferris, to the sorrow of all the Bellevue Science Club, died of internal injuries after six days of skillful care. Thus the first "manned" rocket flight by the Science Club ended on a sad note. For the uninformed, Free-Fall Ferris was an unfortunate white rat, sent up in a three-foot cylindrical rocket. Soon after blast-off, at a height of approximately one hundred feet, Vanguard II exploded, splitting the rocket in two, and ejecting Free-Fall, chute and all. Free-Fall Ferris was rushed immediately to observation to notice any effects of outer space.

Science Club does not spend all its time on ultrascientific projects. This fact was illustrated by a most unscientific "Spook Show" at the Senior Carnival. The wobbly floor was simply a board tied to an inner tube, patched especially for the occasion. Frankenstein hurled a paper-mache rock, strung on piano wire, at innocent passers-by, some of whom had the misfortune of being laid out when the wire broke. The first few geniuses who found their way through the maze were immediately eaten to provide fresh bones for props. The air blast didn't work; it wasn't plugged in.

The officers, president Don Sandstrom, vice-president Dave Parker, secretary Dick Jorgensen, and treasurer Robbie Follet, and the rest of Science Club with the backing and assistance of Mr. Sorensen, adviser, are promoting an excellent extra-curricular science program for Bellevue High.

NEVER CONFUSED, NEVER LATE

If one were to venture into room 159 any third period, a realm of "systematic confusion" would be encountered. Though the room and its occupants seem bent on total annihilation of order, Mr. Distad's Barque class boasts of never bringing an issue out late. In the far corner of the room, one sees editor Dave Williams with a whip in one hand and assistant editor Sondra Davidson's ponytail in the other. That blood in the corner belongs to ad manager Tremaine Arkley. He was mangled while protecting himself from the spikes of the sports editors, Jim Wilson's track shoes and Jack Kellum's baseball shoes. Those piles of black hair belong to news editor Eileen Eggers who couldn't take staff mistakes any more. The bottle of no-doze pills belonged to feature editor Cathy Gorton 1st semester and was passed onto Valerie Broze 2nd semester.

These warm-hearted souls should be congratulated for the fine effort they did in putting out this year's paper. It was an excellent job done by the adviser, editors and staff.

PICTURES, STORIES, WORK, NO-DOZE PILLS!

This year, the same as every year, the Beacon class worked frantically as May 23 came closer and closer and more and more deadlines approached. Everyone worked, but Bill McClellan—Editor-in-Chief, Julia Griswold and Ruth Dahlstrom—assistant editors, and Perry Bell—business manager worked hardest of all. All except Miss Hardy, that is.

Everything got underway with the customary skits, directed by Claire Guise, publicity manager. During the successful sales campaign nearly 850 Beacons were sold with Ann Birnbaum as circulation manager. Next came a flurry of a selling and picture taking, followed by a rush of writing, editing, and rewriting. But this wasn't all that followed. In a successful effort to add sixteen more pages to the '58 Beacon, the annual class staged a colossal car wash which raised approximately $275. Still unsatisfied, this ambitious class added even more to the grand total by selling all-occasion card. When the last of the finished Beacons went to press, everyone let out a sigh of relief. The Beacon staff had done it again, thanks to the co-operation of all and the perpetual efforts of its adviser — Miss Hardy.

ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE . . .

Camera, film, negatives and finally a picture, you guessed it . . . it's the Photography Club, which invades that famous dark room. This newly formed but successful club of "shutter-bugs" meets once a week to snap and develop pictures.

The main objectives of this group are taking successful pictures, mastering the dark room equipment, and gaining an understanding and appreciation of photography.

Under adviser, Mr. Hoech, the Photography Club obtained more adeptness with their cameras and had a lot of fun.

The sound of strong emotion emanating from the library on Thursday nights is only one manifestation of this year's Drama Club. Character sketches (and what characters!) have kept the meetings interesting.

A variety of activities speak for the spirit and enthusiasm of this group which was under the inspired leadership of adviser Mr. Sawatsky and president Dave Sternoff. Their endeavors include the Christmas assembly, the Senior Carnival Seance and one-act plays. All were contributions to the school's "cultural" calendar.

TO SELL, BUT HOW TO SELL? THAT IS THE QUESTION

No one can miss the impact of the beautiful displays in the class show windows, and everybody is well aware that these well planned arrangements are the work of the Retail Selling and Distributive Education Clubs.

With the enthusiastic promotional spirit of Mr. Crown, adviser, the two clubs have made Bellevue High well known and liked in the local business community. The groups work closely with the Bellevue merchants in acquiring their skills of salesmanship. Their talents have been proven by awards won at the Seattle Home

Show and the state convention in Yakima. As members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce both organizations help to promote such civic activities as the Pancake Feed and Bellevue Day at the Home Show.

The student store is the center of interest in these clubs for the average Bellevue boy or girl who makes a sound habit of buying supplies there. Friendly co-operation is the clubs' philosophy in their dealings with both students and businessmen.

THROUGH EDUCATION WE LIGHT THE WAY

Developing and promoting knowledge, understanding, tolerance and acceptance of the handicapped is the "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," that every Spade seeks. Although Spades realize "the pot of gold" can never actually be grasped and clung to, they know they are very close to it by aiding the handicapped through service and service projects. The Spades feel that encouraging an interest in and friendship with the handicapped as individuals is worth much more than the fictional "pot of gold."

During the past year, the Spades, under the leadership of president Becky Brant, vice president Margit Anderson, secretary Sharon Stanley, and historian Sue Morris, have done a multitude of activities. The club was sponsored by the Bellevue Kiwanis Club, its "guardian angels," and the Kiwanis advisers have been Mr. and Mrs. Wiswell. Faculty adviser was Mr. Ekstedt.

"Through education we light the way," is a superb description of the Spade sponsored parties at Stewart School. These parties are put on in behalf of the handicapped children, although the Spades benefit as much as the children through the friendships made. The Spades also put on a sock dance, its proceeds were used for a needed piece of therapeutic equipment. There have been many other activities which Spades have participated in, such as serving at the Kiwanis Pancake Feed, providing entertainment at Conclaves, attending Kiwanis luncheons to better acquaint them with Spades, the Spade Tolo, and numerous other activities including the annual toy drive.

EFFICIENCY PLUS

This year, with the increased population of the school, the library felt the need of a larger staff. Under the expert supervision of Mrs. Davidson, the librarians check books in and out, arrange them on the shelves, renew the supply of magazines and newspapers, and offer their capable, cheerful guidance to all people seeking the services of the library. Although the librarians receive little or no praise, they give students a lot of information and help them find exactly what they want.

This year the library acquired a new machine, the electric charge machine, which aids the librarians in their work. Bellevue Senior High is the first high school in the state to install this type of machine.

"May I help you?" This is a familiar saying often heard when help is needed. Such is the case when a lost student comes rushing into the office in a frantic search for his room. The efficient office girls are always at beck and call, running various errands, such as picking up attendance slips and delivering messages.

With the help of Mrs. Diamond these girls are a great asset to Bellevue High School. They select this work as an elective, and for them it is a pleasant change from the confinements of a classroom. Upper-class standing and an interest in secretarial work are requirements for membership on the office-girl staff.

CREATING THE LIMELIGHT FOR OTHERS

Under the enthusiastic supervision of Mrs. Davidson is a "reel" group of kids "reeling" around the halls, devotedly teaching students and at the same time bringing a change and new interest into a classroom. The students that come under the title of projectionists "reelly" do a big job and have something to be proud of. This group takes care of and provides the school's visual education equipment for the various rooms, and sees that the teacher's requests are met quickly and efficiently.

Lighting the stage, putting up props, and arranging scenery are just a few of the many jobs that the stage crew performs. The work of this crew is very important because it can create the desired effect or emotions by correctly operating the details of lighting and scenery. Flash-back scenes or ordinary lighting — the stage crew is always there to do it right. Thanks to this hard working group, we can look forward to enjoying the background of every production.

"When a fellow needs a friend . . ."

For the last ten years, at Bellevue High, many a student has discovered that the way to conclude that unfinished sentence is to call on Mr. Knoell. Let's face it, many people have had to "call on Mr. Knoell," but they would be the first to say that even when a visit is by official summons, it is a visit with a friend, who dispenses, along with discipline, a rich offering of understanding and help. Many a young man who has gone into college, or the service or the employment world, looks back at his high school days with deep appreciation for the encouragement, the words of sound advice and the fine recommendations so generously provided by Bellevue's busy Vice-Principal.

Busy he is too, with scheduling games, supervising pep assemblies, preparing budgets, and seeing that the kids make the best of their opportunities.

In the ten years Mr. Knoell has been with Bellevue High, he has been the athletic director and basketball coach. Spirited by him, the 1952 Bellevue basketball team was sent on to the state tournament.

Next fall, the famous, familiar, "jack-o-lantern" grim will not shine forth from the door of the Vice-Principal's office. A certain warmth and radiance and good fellowship will have gone from our school that will never again beam at us in quite the same loving way.

We will learn to esteem the new Vice Principal, whoever he may be, and will welcome him warmly. But ten years of service and devotion are not to be forgotten by those of us who have had the good fortune to fall within the circle of the wise, bright, funny smile of our beloved friend, Mr. Knoell.

We wish him the best of good fortune in his position as Principal of the new high school, but we hope that he will leave a little of his heart with us, as he takes a part of ours with him.

We don't want to say this, Mr. Knoell, but — well, goodbye!

IN MEMORIAM

On the tall flagpole in front of the main entrance of Bellevue Senior High School, in the gray, misty morning of April 21, 1958, the folds of the American flag drooped at half mast. Within the building, in the quiet rooms, nine hundred students and their teachers stood silent and grave, in tribute to a beloved friend. Mr. Robert M. Crown, instructor of distributive education, had passed away, suddenly and unexpectedly, on the evening of Sunday, April 20.

For a decade at Bellevue High, Mr. Crown had been a dedicated leader of young men and women interested in the world of retail merchandising. As sponsor of two clubs, termed "D.E." and "Retail Selling," he had inspired many young people toward appreciation and application of the principles of ethical salesmanship. His zeal for leading his students toward the highest goals of self improvement never slackened.

The boys and girls in his classes, and those who have graduated, will find it hard to visualize the Bellevue High of the future without Mr. Crown's gruff, jovial presence presiding over the "D.E." department. And for those who knew "Bob" Crown in his extra-curricular life, it will be hard to imagine him no longer mounted on his favorite horse, or playing with his dogs, or flicking a bright stream with a trout fly.

Mr. Crown, dear friend, we are all missing you more than we can say.

ADVERTISEMENTS

A world of Bellevue's highly respected merchants, who are continuously prepared to serve the public, support Bellevue Senior High School's many enterprises.

My name is Bruce Nurse I know you but you probably don't remember me; I signed my football picture and I hope I can see you this summer (Julia told me you were coming up). I'm a 50 PH this year but I had a tremendous time fest of luck to you.

you could have been with us this year, for it was loads of fun. But I know that you have been having a hard adjustment in California. I know it was but with your great personality you could get along anywhere. I hope

Dear Judy,

I'm sitting here at Julia's watching Louise on T.V. and waiting for the rest of our "party" to show up.

Judy, I remember so well last year. The Lord has been awfully good to me lately and I'm very happy. But still I do think of last year and you and Bud and the fun we had towards the last of our Junior year.

Judy, I do so hope you've found your place down there and that you are happy. Are you in a Young Life group?

Is there a chance I'll get to see you this summer? I hope so, I'd love to have you at W.S.C. next fall, too! DEER ON.....

Take care and forgive me for not having written in Love,

Dear Judy,

Sandy
Sigarth

It's been a long time since kindergarten hasn't it! You followed me to Bellevue in the 5th grade and I followed you to Highland in the 8th grade. Unfortunately I have not made it to California yet. Undoubtedly I will though. And always I'll remember you as a swell girl and the best friend.

Your good (and long) friend,
Bill McEllan

saved for Julia

it's been a long time since I've seen you but in sense you're just as quiet as ever.
I hope you have a good time in college.

High adventure calls — and boys and girls answer. And wherever they go, their cars go also — to school, church, clubs, games, parties.

Here in the senior high parking lot, the "jalopies" sit patiently — the old and "junky" — the shiny and new — waiting to carry their young riders toward the fulfillment of dreams.
